About Colin

Changing from full time pastoral ministry in 2007 meant that Colin and his wife Helen were able to pursue some of their interests, in a mix and match manner. These include church ministry, cooking and family. Colin is a trained Special Education teacher and an ordained Baptist pastor. Over the past 30 years he has pastored churches in Victoria and S.A., and more recently interim ministries in Alice Springs and Whyalla.

Helen and Colin have 4 adult children: Elise (nurse) working in Yuendumu, an Aboriginal community, Amy, married to Chris; (a caterer, student, and mother of Ruby), twin sons Nicholas (teacher) married to Sarah; and Andre (Uni student in Melbourne).

As Victorians they maintain AFL allegiances to Essendon (Helen) and Richmond (Colin).

As a couple, the Rolfs use their interest and ability in cooking to support Christian and private functions. Yes..... they can work together in the kitchen.

Both Helen and Colin have studied theology and have a deep desire for the church locally and worldwide to be all that God intended: with a love for Him and a loving, serving agent to the world.
